

Guest Wedding Attire

When a lady is invited to a wedding she never wears white. A lady realizes the bride is the main focus of attention. She is also mindful that the fabric she wears is appropriate for the season. For a daytime wedding, a lady chooses a dress or a suit that is softer than her usual business attire. For an early evening wedding, a lady may choose a cocktail dress or a dressier suit. Floor length or three-quarter length dresses are appropriate for a formal wedding.

Susie's Que Celebrations

Linda Sue Russell
Wedding Consultant
Event Coordinator

"Less is more when chic is at its peak"

You will enjoy the assurance that your event will be the most pleasant; well planned, smooth running, stress free fun, you and your guests have ever experienced.

770-886-6479
770-361-5769 cell

lsrussell@mindspring.com
www.susiesque.com

Member: Association of Bridal Consultants
Wedding Coordinator Certificate, Perimeter College

A gentleman should wear a suit when invited to a wedding. A gentlemen's shirt should hug the neck and be neither too loose nor too tight. His pants should touch the top of the shoes. A gentlemen's jacket should fit snugly but comfortably around shoulders, with no arm bulges and some room at the waist. His collar should hug the neck, lapels shouldn't buckle and his jacket sleeves should end at the wrist bone.